FOREWORD

As you, the students and faculty of Little Rock High School, leaf through the pages of this edition of the 1952 PIX, you will see a panoramic view of life in LRHS. We hope, with all sincerity, that this PIX is one that you will enjoy and cherish forever.

The classes, homerooms, sports, faculty, and many other interests of the 1951-52 school year featured in this book, will bring back fond memories of our dear Alma Mater. Each time you thumb through this book of scenes you will recall those wonderful events—the Homecoming Game and Queen—the Turkey Day game—the Valentine Ball—Color Day, and all other happy incidents of school life as we knew it. You will remember those cold nights on the gridiron, and the cheers as our Tigers took their place on the hardwood.

We, the PIX STAFF, have striven to enliven the pages by adapting a French visitor known as Artee, the artist. Artee's sketches of life in Little Rock High School as he sees it, we hope, will show some seriousness as well as humor.

Paying tribute to the senior class of 1952, we present this yearbook. The same seniors who are leaders in the school; the same seniors who are destined to become the leaders of the future; but, most of all, the same seniors whom we knew in the good old days in Little Rock High School. We have endeavored to publish a yearbook that is original, and different from any of the past. So, after a year's efforts, but with much pleasure, we give you this PIX. Again we say to the seniors, "congratulations" and, in the words of Artee', "Au Revoir."

The Pix Staff

To JoAnn - a darling girl - I've enjoyed knowing you so much these past few years. Best of luck always!

Love ya'

DEDICATION

For

Your sympathetic understanding of the problems of boys and girls in our high school, and for the high standard of scholarship and character which you have set for us

Your appreciation of merit, scholarship, and genuine worth among the members of the faculty, and for your continued high support of those qualities among our faculty members

Your never-ending industry, both at home and abroad, in the interest of Little Rock High School, representing us always with credit and honor

Your long period of service in the public schools of this city, both as a teacher and as a principal, and more especially for the high quality of leadership which you have exercised as our own principal during the last six years

We, the students, the faculty, the senior class, and the Pix staff with greatest respect and sincerest appreciation, and with real affection, dedicate this edition of our school yearbook, the 1952 Pix, to you

JESS WALTON MATTHEWS
Principal of Little Rock High School

Mr. Matthews has rounded out 31 years in the Little Rock system. Right out of college, he came in February, 1922, and has never taught elsewhere.

DR. HARRY A. LITTLE
Superintendent of Schools

From the Superintendent of any school system comes the leadership which controls the policies and philosophies of any educational program. Little Rock, widely known in educational circles throughout the South and in the nation, recognizes the strong directive forces of its superintendent. Under his leadership, the Little Rock system has expanded rapidly in its building program, and has increased its pupil enrollment and its services to children.

SENIORS

What a sight to see! In September, the ones called the "Leetle Sophs" would practically beend completely ovair when zey met an oldair student, called a Senior. At zee end of school and at graduation, zee Senior steel thought zat he was "top man" even though the "Leetle Sophs" did not theenk so. At graduation eet was strange to see zat zee boys were smiling and zee girls had tears in zee eyes. In my great country of France, everyone is happy when zee advanced students leave school, especially zee students themselves—and zee faculty.

January 28, 1952

Dear Seniors:

The graduates of 1952 may look about them in puzzled wonder as they search for a contribution they can make to this "stepped-up" world around them. They see the industrial and farm life of their city and county expanded and increased by machinery so elaborate that one wonders at the ability of men to devise its complications. They see travel made so swift and convenient that one can go almost anywhere in the world as easily as their grandfathers traveled to the next town. They see entertainment brought ever nearer the audience through movies, radio, and television. They see health and life expectancy continuously improved through preventive medicine and research. And yet they see a world torn by jealousies and fears that no one seems able to control.

Nobody knows what lies ahead in the coming years except that the chances are the generation represented by this years graduates will be called to participate in as tough a contest as the world has ever seen.

Where, then, can the graduates of 1952 make their greatest contribution to their community and to the world? Where are the new frontiers, always so challenging to youth? Perhaps they are in the field of understanding of the adjustment of people to themselves, to their neighbors, and even to their distant neighbors in far-off places. The class of 1952 of Little Rock High School is peculiarly fitted, we believe, for contributing in this field. It has excelled in cooperation within its own membership and with the school as a whole. It is a class that is always conscious of the feelings and wishes of others. With its friendly spirit and sound scholastic achievement coupled with the promising qualities of leadership and sterling character exhibited by its members, we look confidently to the future when the contributions of the members of this class will help make possible a peaceful and a happy world.

Cordially,

Jess W. Matthews

Dear Miss Middlebrook and Mr. Coose:

From the five photographs which you sent me to judge for the 'Tiger' Beauty Contest I have, after much consideration, selected number one.

I had to debate with my staff and myself a long time between number one and number four. There are many values in each face that the other does not possess - both are very beautiful young ladies, as are all the contestants. But at last I decided that number one should be chosen as the winner by a very small margin over number four.

I am returning herewith the photographs with my congratulations and best wishes to all concerned.

Sincerely,

Cecil B. deMille.

The Function Of The Home Room In LRHS

With a school as large as ours, it becomes necessary for us to have a place where the faculty can make announcements and present their ideas to the students as well as hear the opinions and the discussions on various things that occur during the school year. The home room is provided for the students to solve this problem.

Home rooms open with the raising of the national and school campus flags as a bugle sounds; and, with hand over heart, the students repeat the pledge of allegiance. The bulletin is read by the home room president. The bulletin serves as a daily newspaper and keeps the students aware of coming events and activities. A virtue to any group or organization is the reading of the Bible. It serves as a daily guide to those seeking inspirational knowledge as well as preparatory education.

After this, students are commonly seen discussing parts of the bulletin; listening to the report of a fellow-student whom they have elected; attending certain committee meetings; or preparing assignments for forthcoming periods. In almost all home rooms they are allowed to converse within limits, and to talk over the many problems of school life, with their home room teacher.

It is in the home room that the students first nominate their fellow classmates for school offices and positions of honor. The home room teaches them to voice their thoughts and ideas, to develop self-confidence, and to prepare for a useful life in a democratic country.

ENGLISH IN ACTION

The purposes of English instruction include participation of the pupil in the life of the community and the highest possible development of the pupil. Tenth grade English endeavors to help the pupil adjust himself to a large school and a changing society. It contributes to the individual pupil's growth through pupil-centered activities. The study of American Literature in the eleventh grade emphasizes types of literature in order for the student to comprehend the meaning of the short story, the novel, the essay, the theme, the drama, narrative and lyric poetry, and biography. The study of language and composition includes oral and written activities which give to the student a continuous growth. Twelfth

SOCIAL SCIENCE

The social science department of the Little Rock High School offers a course in world history in the 10th grade, where the pupils study the contributions to civilization made by the ancients, and by the people of the middle ages. An intensive study is made of the modern world in order that pupils may get some understanding of the conflicts among nations of the present era. In the 11th grade, the pupils study American history. The entire year is spent in learning of the rich American heritage that belongs to all American citizens. The American way of life with its ideals and achievements is stressed in order that young citizens will understand why the "isms" would destroy everything held dear in America today. The social science department offers two elective courses in the 12th grade, government and Latin-American history. In the government class the entire emphasis of the course is on the practical side of American citizenship. The pupils learn their rights and privileges, and their duties and responsibilities of local, state, and national citizenship. The Latin-American history course is taught entirely from the view point of interest. The objectives are to create a sympathetic understanding of our neighbors to the south, and an appreciation of their contributions to the culture and civilization of the world. Current history is taught in all classes through the use of newspapers, magazines, radio, bulletin boards, and class displays. Wide reading of an historical character is encouraged in all courses. Films are used to point our important information to visualize material, and as a means of review. In all courses of the social science department, the primary purpose is to develop in the pupils an ability to examine information, to form judgments on the basis of facts, and to gain some understanding of the world in which they live.

MATHEMATICS

The mathematics department had an enrollment of 881 students this year. Applied mathematics and plane geometry are offered in the 10th grade; second year algebra in the 11th; solid geometry in the firs tsemester of the 12th grade, and plane trigonometry in the second semester. The applied mathematics course is designed for those students who do not wish algebra and geometry. It furnishes practice in solution of problems met by every consumer, such as interest, banking, taxes, budgets, insurance, and weights and measures. Plane geometry is a study of plane figures and their characteristics. Students also learn about logical thinking. These classes put their knowledge into practice on field trips where indirect measurements are used. Also many projects illustrating geometric facts are constructed. Algebra is a continuation of first year algebra taught in the 9th grade. Special emphasis is given to solution of equations, construction and interpretation of graphs, and uses and solutions of formulas. Three dimensional figures and their characteristics are studied in solid geometry. Projects are made by the students to illustrate facts learned. In trigonometry, triangles and angles and their functions are taken to measure lengths and areas. Much equipment for illustrating the various principles learned is owned and used by the department.

LANGUAGE

Someone has aptly said in speaking of the nations of the Western Hemisphere: "Nature has made us neighbors, but language has made us strangers."

In addition to routine classwork, first and second French classes have heard recordings by popular Canadian French singers; correspond with French students; have club meetings; participate in quiz programs, and read French stories.

The Latin department offers four years of Latin. The relation of Latin to English is stressed throughout the course. Effort is made to help the pupils increase their English vocabulary through knowledge of the meaning of Latin roots, prefixes, and suffixes.

One great aim of our Spanish department is to foster understanding and good will for our neighbors, through a study of their customs and characteristics. Three years of Spanish are offered in LRHS. Our aim is to give a broad general foundation of speaking, reading, and writing upon which each pupil can build to suit his own particular needs.

HOME ECONOMICS

Courses offered in home economics are in foods, clothing, home management, and child development; they are all planned to help girls with their everyday problems and activities. Classes in foods aim to help girls know the purposes which foods serve in the body, their special food needs; and how to plan, prepare and serve well-balanced family meals at a moderate cost. Clothing, is a study of sewing equipment, its cost, use, and care. Some time is also given to the study of the clothing needs of high school girls who keep an account of the money spent for their clothing. They also learn something of color, line and design, and selection of materials. These girls usually make rather simple school dresses, skirts, and blouses, or sports clothes. Older girls have a good deal of freedom in the choice of garments and make coats, suits, skirts, and jackets, or dresses for school, street, semi-formal or formal occasions. They spend some time in considering the family clothing budget, as well as giving some consideration to the planning of the family wardrobe, budgeting the clothing money as well as selecting clothing for different family members. Home management covers all phases of home making.

PRINTING

Vocational printing students learn to do by doing. Simulated on-the-job conditions are provided by the production of all school district forms, booklets, and other printed materials. The shop is the most completely equipped in this section of the country. Modern automatic cylinder press, linotypes, as well as the essential hand presses and other manually operated equipment furnish excellent facilities for pupil training. The LRHS Tiger, Writers' Rendezvous, student directory, student handbook and many other forms are printed by student printers especially for LRHS. An average of 15 students are graduated each year from the vocational classes.

DISTRIBUTIVE EDUCATION – WOOD WORK – DRAWING

Distributive education is known as "technically related" work. As indicated, subjects are studied which are directed toward the work which the students are doing: salesmanship, advertising, retail merchandising. The studies take up subjects such as public relations, sales psychology, employer-employee relations, and public speaking.

The wood working course is not a vocational course. It is a manual training of industrial arts course. It requires no outside preparation but is given the same credit as any other one-hour course. The work is on a purely project method basis beginning with, and continuing with, the proper projects that will bring up the lessons in the proper sequence. It is much like geometry in that students use the same things we have learned and adding more to it each day, and gain a knowledge that can be put into practice when need arises. Wood work furnishes a good hobby out of which to get pleasure while working, and is a wonderful hand training.

Driver's education classes offer the students a course which specializes in forming proper attitudes for a person to become a driver, and practices these attitudes in actual situations in a car where the student is the one behind the wheel. Becoming a driver also teaches the student to be a good pedestrian. The course is finished with excitement and pride when the student gets his police permit entitling him to a legal driver's license.

GUIDANCE DEPARTMENT

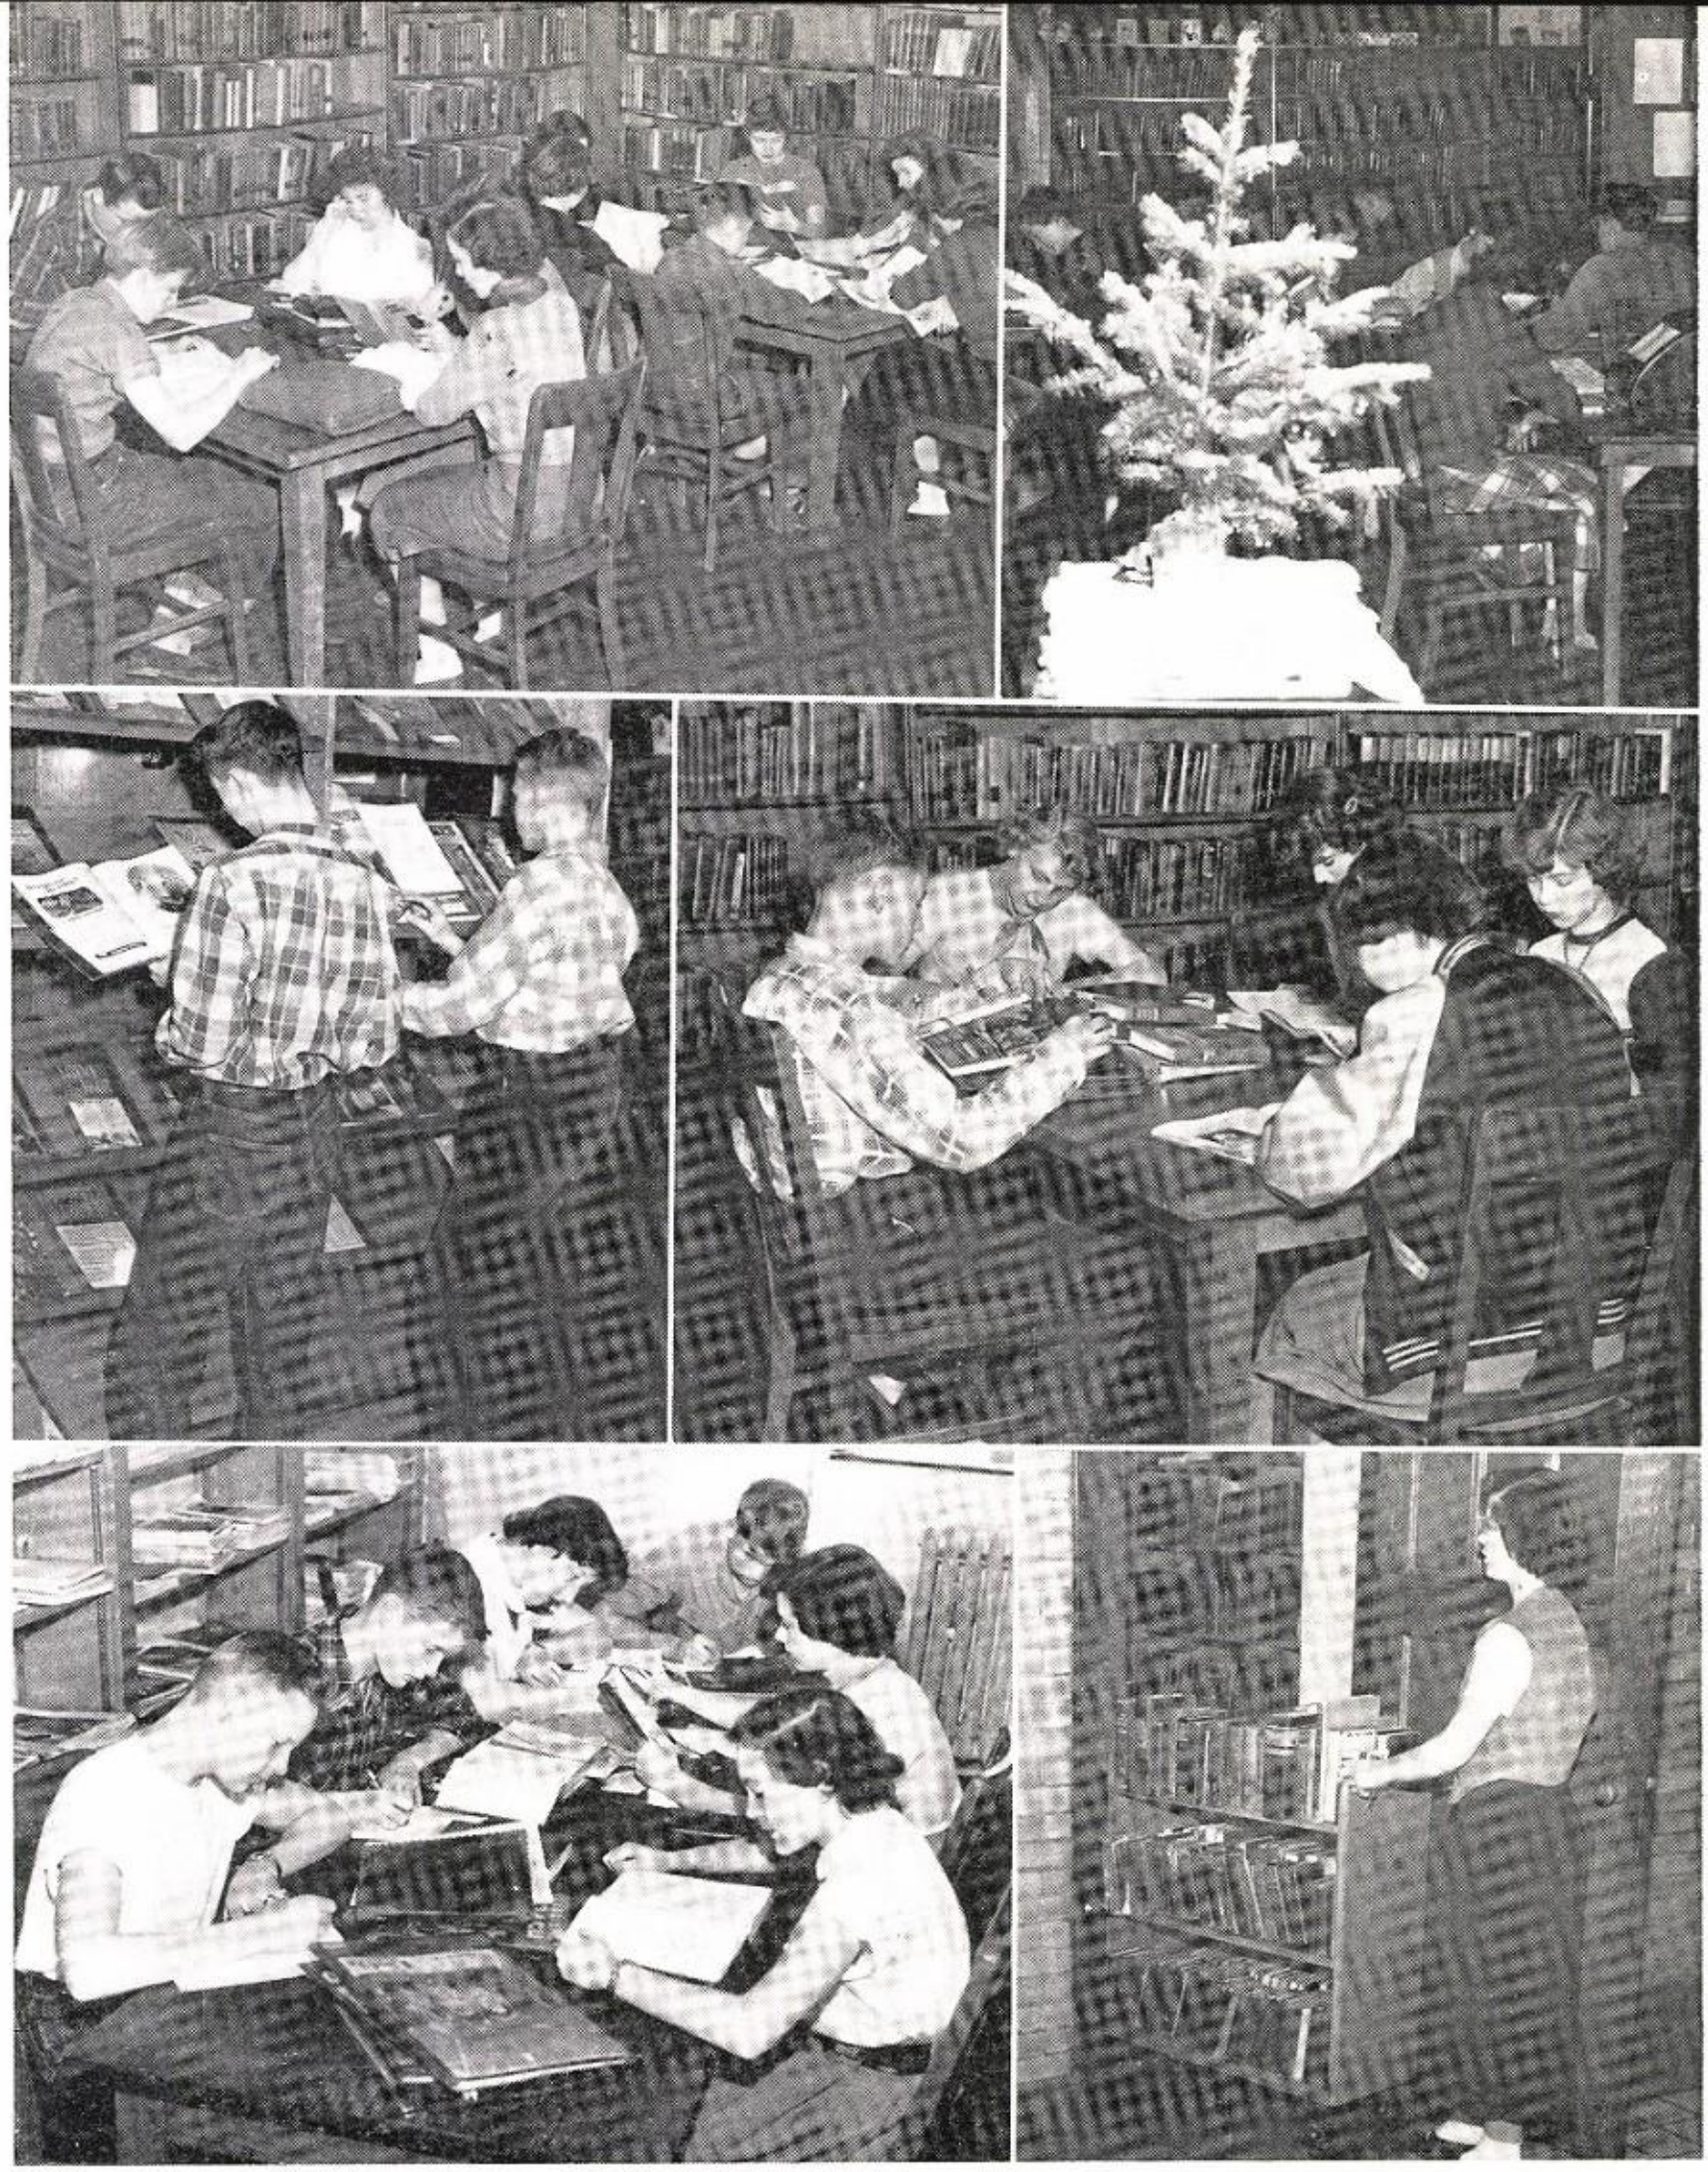
In the guidance department are kept records of standard test scores, choices of subjects, plans of courses, and perosnal data on all high school pupils. Here pupils come for counseling interviews with their advisors. Each boy and girl on entering high school, is assigned to an advisor, who helps him in planning his course and in choosing a career. The advisor has at least two regular interviews with her advisees each year, and she is available for conference with pupils, teachers, and parents in any situations involving choice of subjects, revision of plans, college, or vocational information. Teachers are invited to confer with advisors when they feel that any of the pupils data in the guidance office will assist them in the understanding of the pupils in their classes. Guidance performs two services to senior groups. These are: administering the psychological tests which serve as a basis for determining likelihood of success in college or various fields of work; career conferences which bring senior boys and girls in contact with successful men and women in various professions. During the last year LRHS has had nine teachers on its guidance staff.



LRHS students pursue their research and special reference work in the library. . . . A snow Christmas tree does not distract those who are eager to learn. . . . A studious few keep right on unmindful of the photographer. . . . A faithful student library attendant pushes the cart across the hall to store a few books till they are needed.

LIBRARY

LRHS students enrolled in library science are scheduled to assist in the library one period a day, and receive academic credit which is counted towards graduation. Duties are rotated, and the completion of work sheets is required in order that the student assistants may learn the spirit of library service and acquire a wide knowledge of the resources of a library and how to use them.

King Tiger Slips . . . 1951

LRHS's 1951 Tiger football squad, playing what was probably a tougher schedule than any of its predecessors, failed in their attempt to bring the Sixth Big Six trophy to LRHS. Losses to Pine Bluff, 21-19, and North Little Rock, 14-13, spoiled the season for the Bengals. This marked the first year that LRHS had not been champions of the Big Six since the beginning of the league in 1947. The coaching staff and the squad blended forces and compiled an impressive record of 9 wins and 3 losses.

The Tigers opened the season, September 7, against the highly rated Adamson High Leopards of Dallas, Texas. For days, the Little Rock papers published articles praising the Texas squad, which was picked to win the city championship of Dallas. The features of the opening game were 57 and 80-yard runs by Henry Moore and Paul Goad respectively. Junior quarterback Bobby Hannon threw four TD passes to put an end to the contest. At the sound of the final whistle, the rampaging Bengals had stomped out an impressive victory. Score—LR 53, Dallas 20.

Our second game of the season found the Bengals up against Louisiana's defending state champs, the Istrouma Indians of Baton Rouge. The swamp lads, sparked by powerful fullback Harry Hodges, scored first on a 5-yard buck across the goal. The Bengals got into the scoring with a Bobby Hannon-to-Jodie Parker pass. Dub Johnston's kick was good and the Bengals led 7-6. A pass-play counted for the next Istrouma score. With 90 seconds left in the last quarter, the Bengals, under the leadership of Ted Bellingrath, started a drive that finished with fullback Henry Moore going over. Dub's kick was again good, and the clock showed 13 seconds remaining in the game. On the ensuing kick-off, time ran out. Score— LR 13, Baton Rouge 12.

Oklahoma City's cocky Classen Comets came to Tiger Stadium September 21. A good defensive line led the Bengals to a shut-out win over the Oklahomans. Also in the limelight throughout this game was the Bengal backfield. Score—LR 20, Oklahoma City 0.

The Tigers traveled to Texarkana, Texas, for their fourth game. Penalties kept the LRHS eleven bottled up all night, and at the end of the game the Bengals had met defeat for the first time in the 1951 season. The Tigers' only score came on a pass play from Ted Bellingrath to Winston Porter. Score— LR 7, Texarkana 27.

Our first Big Six game was with the Hot Springs Trojans. Constant attacks from the ground and air subdued the Trojans. Scoring for the Bengals were Ronald Underwood, Henry Moore, Reggie Nalls, Billy Hastings, Paul Goad, and Dub Johnston. Score— LR 46, Hot Springs 6.

A trip to Ft. Smith the following Friday for their second Big Six game proved very successful for the Bengals. The first half, tough on both sides, ended 13-6 in favor of the Tigers. The second half was a different story as the Tigers made a rout of the game. The Bengal offense and defense came to life and made things plenty tough for the Bruins. Five touchdowns gave the Bengals a comfortable lead as the game ended. Score— LR 45, Ft. Smith 12.

October 19 was a sad day for the followers of the Gadsden, Alabama, Tigers. The LRHS squad let the 'Baba boys know that they didn't come 448 miles just for the trip. Paul Goad led the Bengals that night, gaining 202 yards from scrimmages. LRHS scored first and Dub's kick was good. The Alabamans tied up the game in the second quarter with a buck from the 3-yard line. The half ended with the score tied, 7-7. The winning score came in the third quarter on a Bellingrath-to-Porter pass. The kick was good, and Little Rock went ahead to stay. Score—LR 14, Gadsden 7.

The annual homecoming game was turned into a rout by a great display of both offense and defense. The victims of this rout were the El Dorado Wildcats. Quarterback Ted Bellingrath threw four touchdown passes to spark the Bengals. The Tiger defensive platoon combined forces to stop El Dorado's scoring ace, Eli Mooty. By stopping Mooty, the Tigers stopped the entire El Dorado offense. Tiger reserves played most of the game, allowing the oil city crew two TD's. Score— LR 59, El Dorado 12.

Paducah, Kentucky's "Blue Tornados" came to Tiger Stadium November 2, and received a "revenge" licking. The game was played on a muddy field in sub-freezing weather. This win, largely through the efforts of Moore, Goad, Hastings, Porter and Bellingrath, avenged a 12-9 loss dealt the Tigers by the 1950 edition of the Kentuckians. Score—LR 46, Paducah 7.

November 9 brought the biggest upset of the 1951 Arkansas football season. The Pine Bluff Zebras put the finishing touches on "Beat Little Rock"-week by knocking over the Tigers. The Zebras held the Bengals at bay until the fourth quarter when the Tigers came to life to score three quick TDs. The final whistle found the Bengals clawing in vain for another marker. This win gave the Zebras the 1951 Big Six championship. Score—LR 19, Pine Bluff 21.

Still smarting from the Pine Bluff game, the Tigers went to Clarksdale, Mississippi. This game was a wild battle, finally being won by the Tigers. Henry Moore amassed 156 yards for the Bengals, and Ted Bellingrath completed 13 of 17 passes in this game. Score—LR 48, Clarksdale 45.

Thanksgiving Day brought the Tigers another upset loss. The spoilers this time were the North Little Rock Wildcats. Both teams fought tooth and nail, down to the final gun, which found the Wildcats slim winners. Score—LR 13, North Little Rock 14.

The Tigers wrote finis to the 1951 season by placing two men on the All-Big Six team. Henry Moore was picked for the fullback slot for the second straight year, and Winston Porter won an end position on the dream team. Henry and Winston were both big factors in compiling the 9-3 won-lost mark for the 1951 season. After the season ended, the entire Tiger squad voted Henry Moore the "most valuable player" for the season.

LRHS Cheerleaders are elected (or re-elected) in the spring of the year, at the end of an intensive training program. They begin practice in the middle of August, at the same time the football team does. They are present at all home football games where they lead yells and promote school spirit. They also attend out-of-town games. This year they went to Ft. Smith, Pine Bluff, Texarkana, and Clarksdale. They presented an all-school pep-assembly before each game which often included skits or acrobatic phases given by the members of the squad. They also lead cheers at all the home basketball games in the physical education building. They began a new practice this year of cheering at many of the out-of-town basketball games. After the basketball season, the training of cheerleader candidates for next year began. There were more than 100 girls going out for the 10 positions, and the competition was very keen. After the candidates presented a talent assembly, for the purpose of introducing themselves to the student body, the eliminations were held. The final group was selected by the votes of a specially chosen committee of students and teachers. This method of selection is unique and has received nationwide publicity. Another unusual fact is that the LRHS cheerleaders have two official uniforms which are worn at alternate games. The newest is a 12-gore, gold corduroy skirt lined with black; and a gold weskit, a bat-winged sweater, black socks, and saddle oxfords. The other uniform consists of the same skirt and shoes, a white sweater, a gold collar, and white socks. The cheerleaders, who are all leaders in other school activities, have had several parties and they decorated a float and rode on it in the 1951 Livestock Parade.

THEY ALSO DO THEIR PART

Each fall, with the opening day of training for the Bengal football team, a group of unheralded boys fall into line, check out their uniforms, pads, and the rest of their practice equipment and take to the field. This group of boys is made up of the "rookies" of the Tiger squad. They are boys who have just come from junior high or they are in their junior year at LRHS. This team is known as the Jr. Varsity Team or the Cubs, cannon-fodder for the Tiger varsity.

The Jr. Varsity normally carries about the same size squad as the varsity. Almost daily scrimmages with the varsity hardens up the Cubs for their full-size schedule. The schedule includes some of the better Class B and Class A teams in the state. Also on their schedule are the Jr. Varsity teams of some of the Big Six schools. As if playing a full slate of tough teams were not enough, these boys almost daily put on the red shirts and go into a full speed scrimmage with the Tiger Varsity. A few of the Jr. Varsity players dress out with the varsity for the Friday night games.

Only the least amount of recognition goes to the Cubs. The results of their games are not played up in the papers, their pictures never appear in the papers, and they never have sizeable crowds to follow them on their road games. Hard work, sweat, and toil earn them the one thing that they are really after when they put on their game suits—a berth on the future Tiger varsity squad.

JoAnn:
You're such a cute girl, and you have a wonderful personality.
Good Luck!
Nancy Hays

RESERVE CHEERLEADERS

For the first time, LRHS this year has had reserve cheerleaders whose duties are: first to be regular cheerleaders for all Jr. Varsity team events; and second, to assist the regular cheerleaders at pep assemblies and at all athletic events. During the football season the cheerleaders yelled for all Jr. Varsity team games and made out-of-town trips to the following towns: England, Batesville, Pine Bluff, Beebe, and North Little Rock. The reserves were honored guests at the Jr. Varsity team football banquet, and they had their own float in the Livestock Show parade. During the basketball season the reserves contined their activities and cheered their team to victory at all games except one. The reserves, which were on trial basis this year, have proved very successful and have been accepted to serve in the future at LRHS wearing their black and white uniforms.

LRHS BASKETBALL STARTS ANEW

Little Rock High School's Tiger basketeers were a new outfit from start to finish as they opened their season for this year. The first new change came about when George Haynie, Cub basketball coach, was appointed head coach beginning in the 1951-52 season. The next change was the new physical education building that the Tigers can now call "home." The 1951-52 Tiger basketball team had just three returning squadmen from the team that had such a dismal season the year before.

The opening game of the season, on December 14, found the Tiger squad in a pretty bad shape. With a team composed mostly of sophomores and juniors, Coach Haynie was supposed to field a team that would stand up against the Ft. Smith Grizzlies, defending Big-Six Champs, who were loaded with left-over talent from the year before. Forgetting all aches and pains, the Bengals made a game of it, and the Border City boys were lucky to get away with a small 31-29 win. George Davis hit the hoop for 12 points to lead the Tigers in this contest.

The second game of the season proved more successful for the Tigers when they journey to El Dorado for their second Big-Six game. Again, George Davis led the Bengals with 14 points. Davis also contributed some fine defensive work in this 44-36 victory for the Bengals.

Playing before a slim crowd in the Robinson Auditorium the LRHS basketeers claimed another victim, the Catholic High Rockets, on the night of January 3. Mastering the backboards for the Tigers were Henry Moore, Eddie Shell, and Ernie Tabor. Isaac Scott's eight points contributed greatly to a 39-24 win for the LRHS Tigers. The second game between these two teams found George Davis again hitting the hoops with regularity, this time counting 23 points. It was a 47-31 victory for the Bengals.

January 4 proved to be an exciting night for the Tigers. Inspired ballplaying put the Bengals ahead at the half, and they took a 28-25 victory over the Hot Springs Trojans. In this low-scoring contest, Davis again led the Bengals, this time with six points. The second game between these two teams found the Little Rockians recovering from the flu, and the Trojans took a hard-fought 39-37 win. Again, Davis led the Tigers, this time with 19 points.

Revenge was in order for the Tigers as they journeyed to Pine Bluff, January 11. The Zebras had won a close game in football from the Bengals, and this was the night for LRHS to get even. Eddie Shell mastered the backboards and George Davis scored the points for a 39-34 win for the Bengals. At the end of the game, Coach Haynie found himself and the entire Tiger team being hoisted upon the shoulders of the Nitecappers, the Tiger athletes cheering squad. The return game between LRHS and Pine Bluff was a different story, for the Zebras took a 42-24 win over the Tigers.

On the night of January 12 the Tigers took on the Van Buren Pointers. Hard work and good ball-handling helped the Tigers to a 36-30 victory. Moore and Davis hit the hoop for 8 and 9 points respectively.

Another revenge licking was the order for January 18, when the high-riding Tigers set the North Little Rock Wildcats back on their heels, and won 52-39. Davis and Shell led the Tigers with 15 and 8 points. The North Siders' top scorers were John Fortenbury and John Whitten with 9 and 5 points. In the return battle between Little Rock and North Little Rock, a hard fought game went down to the final gun with both teams clawing desperately for possession of the ball. The last quarter ended with the boys from NLHRS clinging to a 43-42 edge.

All Big-Six title hopes for the Bengals were banished January 25 at the Ft. Smith gym, when the Ft. Smith boys again came out on top in a close game with the Bengals, but this time the margin was a little closer. George Davis hit the rim that night for 14 points, but still the Bengals lost out by a score of 33-32. Ironically, the player who put in the winning bucket for the Grizzlies, David Railey, was the one who put in the winning two-pointer in the first game between the two teams. Both goals came in the last few seconds of play and spelled defeat for the Tigers.

The Big Six Tournament opened its doors at the LRHS physical education building, February 28, 1952. The Tigers found themselves paired with their friends from across the river, North Little Rock, in the first round game. As in the preceeding game between these two teams, this game was a close contest in every quarter. Neither team at anytime could point to more than a 6-point lead, and even that margin was very rare. Henry Moore left the game in the fourth quarter and the difference was noticeable. The Wildcats edged ahead, and their reward for a night's work was a 37-35 victory. George Davis led the Bengals point-making with 11 points.

The Tiger team,coach, and the entire student body boosted the basketball spirit to a new level during the 1952 season. This spirit was noticeable at all times, win or lose, at the Tiger games. With all of the new-found basketball interest at LRHS, a new era in the game of basketball is coming into view for the fans of the Little Rock Tigers.

TRACK. . . 1952

With the fading away of basketball season the thought around LRHS turned to the track season. With the brilliant records held by the track teams of the past at LRHS, the cinder sport is always looked forward to. The first track meet of the year is usually held around the second week of April in Tiger stadium. The cinder track at Tiger stadium is one of the best in the South. The field events are held on the inside of the oval. Adequate space for the discus, shot-put, broadjump, pole vault, and the high jump is available. The results of the events are telephoned to the scorekeepers in the press-box. In this way, the spectators can always know the official result of an event seconds after it is finished.

When this book went to press the track season was still young. Returning lettermen from the state champion 1951 team were Don Conder, Henry Moore, Bill Kumpuris, Bob Hannon, Bill Jones, and Harold Allison. These boys were being counted on to carry the heaviest load for the 1952 season.

Don Conder, Tiger dash man, holds the current record for the 220-yard dash in the state of Arkansas. His record time, accomplished in the State Meet in 1951, is 22.4 seconds.

MINOR SPORTS

Various intra-mural sports for both girls and boys are carried on each year in the regular gymnasium classes. For the boys, there are boxing, wrestling, softball, basketball, and volleyball. In the girls' classes there are basketball, volleyball, and softball.

Each year, teams are formed in the gymnasium classes and different tournaments are played. Champions are named in each tournament. Awards such as ribbons, trophies, and letters are given the winners. In the girls' intra-murals, points are given the girls on a basis of the work done by the individual. A certain number of points entitles a girl to become a member of the Girls' Athletic Association.

The intra-mural sports are given full attention throughout the entire year at LRHS. This program helps the boys and girls to become better situated at LRHS.

THE CHORAL MUSIC DEPARTMENT

The Choral Music Department consists of the A Cappella Choir, the mixed glee club, boys' glee club, and two beginning girls' glee clubs, all under the direction of Mrs. Mary Frances Thompson.

Each year the boys and girls from the glee clubs become members of the A Cappella Choir; they are chosen for voice, reading ability, character, and grades.

The Choral Department presents several programs each year for the school and the public. They are the annual Christmas program, Christmas assembly, Arkansas State Vocal Festival, graduation vespers, graduation exercises, and this year the "Danny Dither" Operetta.

The A Cappella Choir presented many school-programs throughout the year. This year they sang at Winfield Methodist Church, at Highland Methodist Church, at the City Council of Church Women, at Trinity Episcopal Church, at the dedication of the new LRHS physical education building, at the State Eastern Star Convention, at the Lion's Club, at the P.T.A. Council, at West Side Junior High, at Pulaski Heights Junior High, at East Side Junior High, at an all-school assembly, and at the senior assembly. The choir presented two radio broadcasts over KLRA for the American Education Week, and a Christmas program; and they participated in the Arkansas State Vocal Festival, and the production of the operetta.

This year the choral department presented the operetta "Danny Dither," by Jerry Gury and Alex North. The cast and chorus were chosen from the glee clubs and the A Cappella Choir and directed by Mrs. Mary Frances Thompson and Miss Alberta Harris. The choreography was done by Gwen Neser and Eunice Ramsey; the pianists were Florene Mitchell and Betty Jean Sims.

"Danny Dither" is o comedy written in two acts. The opening scene takes place in Heaven in the office of Faith, Hope, and Charity. For the first time in 50 years Mr. Judkins, the head of the Heavenly Departments, comes to check up on the department of Faith, Hope, and Charity. Mr. Judkins informs them that their department is to be discontinued because he feels that the organization would be much more effective without them, but in consideration of the fact that the department has been in existence since Adam and Eve, he gives them until the first of the month to prove that they are needed. Danny Dither, the office boy, is chosen to go down to Earth and to record all the good deeds that are done in order to prove there is still faith, hope, and charity left on the Earth. While on Earth, Danny meets many people and gets into lots of trouble. Mr. Lucas, the assistant of Mr. Judkins, is the villian, and he does all he can to make Danny's visit a flop, but with the help of Daisy and the City Brats, Danny succeeds in getting enough good deeds written down in his notebook to prove that the Department of Faith, Hope, and Charity is really essential.

The c a s t included Pat Thornton as Daisy; Gordon Adkins as Danny Dither; H. R. Poindexter as the Duke; Frances McSwain as Droopy; Joe Toland as Mr. Judkins; Winston Porter as Mr. Lucas; Charles Vandament as O'Shaunesy; Ray Traylor as the organ grinder; Mike Davis as the prosperous man; Nancy Barr as Faith, Tommie Lee Kirk as Hope; and Jenny Lou Law as Charity.

LRHS SWING BAND

The three-year-old LRHS Swing Band serves a definite school need in extra-curricular circles. During its existence it has supplied several hundred school and civic programs. It is an amateur organization open to any high school pupil with musical inclination who will promise to be punctual for one year. This year it included in its membership a vocal and dance line of talented girls. The group has received much favorable publicity, not only in the school and city, but also in the entire state. It has supplied music for six state organizations two years in succession, and for the past two years has had opportunities to play in Tennessee, Florida, Alabama and Louisiana. The Swing Band was organized and is sponsored by the acitivity department of LRHS. Most of the boys are members of the LRHS Concert Band, but such membership is not a requirement. The members are scheduled for two periods a week in the activity department for rehearsals. The musicians are graded on the point or merit system accumulated by punctuality, rehearsals, performance and executive duties. The organization requires about four boys to handle duties such as emcees, stage, property and business managers. These offices require no musical ability. The organization has two girls among its members. The 1952 commencement will not affect the organization, as 26 members do not graduate.

BAND REVIEW FOR '52

The LRHS Band of 1951-52 was another of the great Little Rock bands. In keeping with the high standards, each student musician had to strive for perfection to become a member of the Tiger and Concert bands.

The Tiger Band, appearing at all LRHS home games, made their greatest appearances at the Zebra-Tiger game in Pine Bluff and at the annual Turkey Day clash with North Little Rock. Mickey Hooten was chosen as Tiger Band drum major, and Max Bryant as band captain. Drum Major Hooten led the combined Pine Bluff-Little Rock band through an unusual performance. The Tiger Band's high spot of the season was the Thanksgiving Show, which was praised highly by spectators.

As marching season passed on, the Concert Band was chosen from the Tiger Band. Director A. F. Lape had his hands full selecting the band of some 80 pieces that could fill the busy schedule ahead. The band played their annual concerts to welcoming audiences at the three junior high schools as well as the LRHS student body.

The Concert Band traveled to Conway and Arkadelphia, where they presented concerts to the students of Hendrix and Henderson State Teachers colleges.

The Band attended the district clinic at Stuttgart, where many of the members tried out for the All-State Band. Of those who tried out, Mary Jo Jung, Barbara Kuhns, Sharon Meehan, Rosemary Wilkins, Glenn Dalrymple, Mickey Hooten, Steve Lane, and Jimmy McKinney, went to the All-State Band clinic held at Conway, March 6, 7, and 8. They also played in the All-State Band concert given for the Arkansas Education Association convention in Little Rock, March 27.

The Concert Band presented a series of concerts for the public, given in the Foster Band Shell at MacArthur Park, during May.

Mr. Lape has also served as judge, guest conductor, and music critic at many of the music festivals throughout the South, such as assisting directors from all over the state, select musicians for the All-State Band in 1951 and 1952.

On Tuesday evening, May 6, the Concert Band gave their Anniversary Concert for the students and public. This concert is always the milestone of the year, for band members and the public alike.

The Little Rock High School Band of 1951-52 brought much favorable comment, not only to Little Rock High School, and the City of Little Rock, but also to the State of Arkansas.

The Little Rock High School Band department makes every effort to serve its students in many ways. The fundamental objective is performing all types of music in the best manner possible. However, this is not the sole aim of the teachings or philosophy in the instrumental music department. There are many intangible assets derived from a well-organized band. Strong emphasis is placed on group spirit, a respect for its objective, and above all, a personal pride in accepting responsibility and then carrying it through to a successful conclusion. The band department places much emphasis on developing proper attitudes toward good citizenship and a personal regard for correct discipline. A successful band program will include these ideas and will in itself make for a better organization that is equipped to play good music.

ASSEMBLIES...

Music Played a Great Part in LRHS Assemblies

We, the staff, wish to thank our visiting artist, Artee', for his wonderful work on our 1952 PIX. He decided to turn the Publications Division over to us, whether out of desperation or gratitude we'll never know. We hope that we can carry out the rest of the PIX as well as he has the first part.

The Publications Division included the newspaper, The Tiger, and the school yearbook, The PIX. The Tiger is one of the oldest high school newspapers in America, having been founded in 1894 as The Tattler. It became the LRHS Tiger in 1905 and has been in almost continuous publication ever since. Throughout the years it has maintained a very high rating in the state and the nation, more than once being rated All American. The PIX, prepared by the members of the department, is a 240-page book which is financially self-supporting.

TIGER STORY

Deadlines, galley proofs, page proofs, dummies, masthead, copy, and headlines, are terms that are well known by all Journalism students, especially by advanced Tiger staff members. The 1951-52 Tiger staff combined efforts and talent to put out 14 issues of the LRHS Tiger. Much effort was put forth by writers, photographers, advertisers, bookkeepers, and sponsor to make the Tiger as much like a professional newspaper as possible. It is, however, produced entirely by students who are enrolled in regular journalism classes which offer full grade credit toward graduation.

The Tiger is printed in the LRHS printshop. The first issue of the Tiger appeared on Thursday, September 20, 1951. The advertisers buckled down and sold 3,000 inches of ads to local merchants by the deadline for the first issue.

The Tiger made a few changes from the previous years. Previously appearing on page two in the upper left hand corner, the masthead was changed to the lower left hand corner to add a touch of newspaper streamlining. A new column, "In Our Mailbox" was added to page two in an effort to give the student body a chance to express their opinions on various subjects of interest. The sports pages received a change of appearance early in the year, when the two pages devoted to sports were moved to the center of the paper and were given their own masthead .

A new column, "LRHS Alumni," was featured in an effort to inform the student body of the former LRHS classmates. The column "Stars and Stripes" was added to inform the subscribers of the LRHS boys in the armed forces. A cartoon strip "Skippy Scoop" portrayed the life of a reporter and added a touch of humor to the paper.

Coverage of important events with excellent pictures was another feature of the 1951-1952 Tiger. A capable five-man photography staff was responsible for many action shots appearing in the Tiger. Some of the photographers not only held staff positions with the Tiger, but they also held jobs with professional studios and downtown papers.

Each month the Arkansas High School Press Association bulletin was received and the criticisms of the University of Arkansas Professor of Journalism were known. In this way, the Tiger staff learned the good and bad points of their publication as expressed by a disinterested person.

The Tiger has been the recipient of many national honors since it was founded as the "Peabody Tatler" in 1894. In its fifty-eight years of publication, the Tiger has become one of the most outstanding high school papers in the nation. Several times the Tiger has been awarded, by the NSPA, the highest award available to a high school publication, that of an All-America Honor rating, given to only five scholastic papers a year. Constant effort is put out by the staff in the hope of holding such honors for the LRHS Tiger.

We Held It In Our Hearts . . .

That's the way it always was. We held the dream in our hearts hoping that you might someday hold this PIX in your hands. Way back yonder when we saw the PIX of 1951, we asked our sponsor, "Will we ever be able to do as well as this?" "Oh, yes," was the answer, "If we dream, and try to make our dreams come true. Nothing good or really worth while ever comes unless we work for it."

Even last spring, we set to work trying to figure out general lay-out and division pages for the book. Long before school closed in May, 1951, we had a start. Came August, and Teacher and the photographers met the football team out in the stadium under a boiling sun, and for three hours made pictures of individual players which are in this book. Ed Goldman's picture was made for the last time in football uniform. Bob Walloch was in Europe; and so last year's camera bug, Jerry Payne, came back and made the football pictures for us.

We employed commercial photographers to make the faculty and the seniors, not that we could not have done it ourselves, but the job was too much for us to do quickly. We tried making home room pictures out of doors, but the autumn dews and mists drove us inside.

Every successful accomplishment always calls for long hours of work. Most members of the PIX staff are scheduled for two hours a day in class; a few, for one hour. Unlike many schools, the PIX work is done by Journalism students only, and they receive regular classroom credit for their work. We had our handicaps too, for our staff was flu-ridden and accident be-set, and lost time from work. Never giving up, we plugged along, staying late after school, coming on Saturdays, and sometimes at night, and always with the dream in our hearts.

PIX work is all volunteer work by staff members. Each person does a job that he liked. No one was ever required to work overtime, but Teacher says she pays "time-and-a-half for overtime" on the report card. Mixed up with the labor and the work was always much fun, talk, singing, sometimes a radio, and always, if we were hungry, we ate and drank (milk and soft drinks); sometimes there was a birthday party (ask Marel) or a "bejert donation," like ice cream and cake.

One of the best things about our PIX is always Dick Keck's art work. Long devoted to his Alma Mater and the teacher, Dick never fails to help us with our art work. To us he was wonderful, and the only fault we could find was that he was not with us as much as we could have wished. His own work and his duties with Uncle Sam sometimes kept him away. Artee was Dick's own creation, and we think he even resembles Dick a wee bit. Our thanks, Dick, always.

Looking back over the work, and all mixed up in our dream of producing a PIX, it is hard to rate and to evaluate our staff. Nearly everybody could do a little bit of nearly everything. Nearly all of us did make-up work, like Marel, Jenny, Emma Sue, and Ann. Jenny scheduled senior pictures; Marel and Bill headed our advertising sales campaign; Ethel Belle got the senior activities records; Emma Sue kept the faculty records straight; Jerry and Marilyn read proofs faithfully; Betty headed our typists and sketched in our dummy. From the first, Gene Blagg was the guy who developed the most leadership and led us all in producing the PIX. Able to do any job from photography to scaling pictures, lay-out boards to proof reading, Gene, the smallest person in size on the staff, came in time to stand "head and shoulders" above the rest of us. Since permanent positions on the staff are confirmed only when the work is done, it was easy to see that Gene had become the editor-in-chief. Little PIX beginners, Sheila Anderson, Pat Parker, Dorothy Sue Taulbee, and Winfred Ward were faithful beyond the call of duty; and there were some wee-juniors, learning the ropes for next year; they were Marilyn McAninch and Dorothy Hall. (Watch for them on the PIX Staff of 1953.)

That snazzy PIX-ometer in the main hall telling the school of our PIX sales progress was the work of Marel Coose. Ann Leabo was the one who figured our homeroom sales percentages and determined our winners.

No PIX could be complete without our photographers. Every day our boys made pictures. Early dawn found Bobby Allen snapping the shutter as football players boarded the bus. . . . In a rain storm, Johnny covered the camera with his coat. . . . Don Bailey was faithful beyond the call of duty when he came many nights to catch up on the work in the darkroom. . . . Don Campbell and Bobby Allen, pursuing their assignments in the Pine Bluff-Little Rock football game, coming home, had an opportunity to make pictures of an automobile accident; and our photographer Bob Walloch did a fine community service in the storm area, making pictures for the Salvation Army. . . . The jobs seemed endless.

Everyone in the Journalism Department was asked to sell one or more advertisement to help the regular staff. Most of us did. But there were still boys and girls, twelve in all, who "pounded the pavements" making dollars by selling ads. Marilyn Back, senior, and Helen Keith, junior, headed that staff, and they all deserve our thanks here for their work.

Suns go down; days pass. Time will come when you will hold this book in your hands. Our dream will be your reality. For all future time it will be a record of days gone by, Artee's sketchbook for all of us. We'll always have reason to remember the fun we had making it. . . . the dream we held in our hearts.

The PIX Staff,

. . . Till You Could Hold It In Your Hands

1952 PIX ADVERTISING STAFF

To the Students and Faculty of Little Rock High School

Once again the business men and women of Little Rock have "come through." By that we mean that they have bought advertising space in the 1952 PIX, thus making it possible for us to present to the students of high school another year book, at a reasonable price.

Sometimes boys and girls take for granted those favors and courtesies extended to them by the adult world, especially by the business world. Often we are inclined to overlook where our blessings come from. Let us not be guilty of that. As we look through the pages of this book, let us remember that the business people of our city have "dug deep" into their pockets to pay for these advertisements, and that they are our friends.

When the time comes for us to go shopping, let us remember those who have remembered us. Little Rock has one of the most complete shopping areas to be found anywhere in the entire South. By buying at home we support our friends, and we benefit ourselves.

To the business men and women of Little Rock, we wish to express our sincere thanks for your support. We shall strive to show our appreciation of your consideration for us.

The 1952 Advertising Staff:
Marilyn Back, Manager
Helen Keith, Assistant
